Top 5 Types of Window Blinds for Modern Homes in Cardiff

Picking blinds for your home should feel exciting, not exhausting. Still, with so many styles, fabrics and finishes out there, it's easy to feel a bit lost. If you're searching for the best blinds Cardiff homeowners can choose from, this guide walks you through what matters, in plain English, so you can decide with confidence.

What "Best" Really Means

We all have different Windows. The perfect blind is whichever one works for your window, your lifestyle and your personal preferences. A busy family kitchen and a back bedroom with a much-needed rest are going to have very different requirements so it's worth taking a bit of time to visit every room in your house and find the perfect blind for it.

Before you go shopping, remember to list what you like and dislike about your windows. Too much glare? Not enough privacy? Dirty windows? That's your most powerful sales pitch.

And it might actually be refreshing to lay it on the line: Yep, your blind is beautiful, but if it's a nightmare to clean, you'll be back to square one fairly quickly. And a cheap upgrade that only lasts a year really isn't that cheap.

A Quick Tour of the Main Styles

Classic Everyday Blinds

Simple and neat roller blinds. Soft folds of roman blinds. Angle the louver of Venetian blinds for more control of the daylight and day and night blinds have floating and fixed bands of light and solid for more versatility.

Specialist Blinds

Sky light, lantern, bifold door and slider door blinds for awkward spaces, together with curved rail blinds for shape in the shape of they need their own specific solutions. Perfect fit blinds fit inside uPVC without drilling and motorised solutions removes all that effort for high or awkward blinds.

Light and Privacy Go Hand in Hand

Generally, you'll want both. Top quality blinds can reach each, with tilt slats bar front-to-again sight while simultaneously creating visibility, blackout fabrics allow you to rest in complete darkness, and light filtering fabrics reduce glare with a more muted glow.

Remembrance nights. Well if you do not have the comfort of someone else if you are not in the stare of day and then go to the comfort of night then stay in eyes for comfort is quite a bit of comfort.

You could also use a layered blackout blind with a less dark blind over the top.

Colour, Texture and Style

It doesn't have to be a designer. Take a colour that's already in the room - a cushion or rug for example - and work that colour into your blind. Keep neutrals muted and textured as they will blend in and actually make the room feel warmer. If there's a lot happening in the room, keep your blind plain and if it's a bit plain, add a pattern.

See samples in your own window. The lighting in our showrooms is very different than what it will look like in the muted grey of Tuesday in your living room.

If you have multiple picture windows from one location try painting them the same colour family. It will be more comforting and more unified.

Why the Fit Matters So Much

If you have a nice blind that isn't perfectly fitted it will really annoy you every day. You'll notice the light shining through the gaps and a wonky headrail is strangely apparent. Precise measurement and a neat fitting improve everything, that's why we have a free fitting service & a lifetime fitting guarantee at JJ All Blinds.
